7 Coeds Enrolled In College Air ROTC

Seven Gettysburg college girls are among the few women in the country who are full-time students in the Air ROTC. The group, shown studying maps and charts in learning aerial navigation at the college ROTC, is one of the groups throughout the U.S. being trained by Air ROTC. They are, left to right: Misses Eve Winant, Hackensack, N. J.; Linda Daikeler, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Pal Weikel, Philadelphia, Pa.; Peggy Engel, Scottsdale, Pa.; Louise Walsh, Staten Island, N. Y.; Joan Burwell, Maplewood, N. J., and Lois Tabor, Washington, D. C.

The students, five sophomores and two freshmen, are among women students in three colleges throughout the U. S. who are undergoing the air ROTC training. Only three of the 187 schools participating in the AROTC have girls enrolled in their courses.

Col. Charles Fulton, professor of air military science and tactics at the college, said the marks of the eight girls "compare favorably with those of the men."

Excused From Drill

The young women attend classes and take the same subjects as the men AROTC students, with one exception. The women are excused from actual drill. During the drill periods the girls work in the AROTC office and study procedures in supply, administration, training, command and personnel work.

Actually, the young ladies taking the course at present are enrolled only conditionally as a form of "pilot group" taking the courses while congress makes up its mind concerning giving the air force authority to commission female enrollees in the AROTC into the Reserve corps.

The young ladies are expected to be the first of hundreds of women taking similar courses in the future if congress gives the green light to the plan. The experiences of the present conditional trainees will probably determine the type of training given to their successors.

May Fly Later

The Air Force hopes that the girls will eventually be authorized to fly and receive subsistence pay and wear uniforms while training. If the girls receive uniforms they will also take part in the basic drill sessions.

The completion of the basic course at Gettysburg college will insure "the girls of an excellent chance of earning officers' school of the WAF," Colonel Fulton said today. The ultimate aim of the program, from the point of view of the air force, is to have the girls (Please Turn to Page 8)

Negotiators Hold 7th Futile Session To Reach Armistice; Allies Repulse Red Attacks

Seoul, Korea, April 12 (AP) — United Nations infantrymen repulsed Red probing attacks all along the 155-mile Korean battle front last night and early today as the ground war flared anew after a two-day lull.

Bad weather grounded U. N. airplanes, but naval units Friday night continued a steady hammering of Communist positions on both coasts of North Korea.

The Fifth Air Force weekly summary, released today, listed 10 Allied planes lost over Communist territory—none of them to Red fighters. Four Communist MIGs were destroyed, two probably downed and seven damaged in that time. The Red losses occurred last Sunday—the only day the speedy jets tangled in the week.

In at least 10 other places along the front from the Yellow sea to the Sea of Japan, Communist troops probed U. S. positions, skirmished and withdrew.

IKE'S GENERALS CRY WHEN TOLD HE IS LEAVING

Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe, April 12 (AP) — A man who was there said when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a meeting of nearly 70 of the world's highest ranking officers he was leaving "there was not a dry eye in the house."

And one of them—British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, his deputy commander in war and peace—pleaded in private with the general not to leave the army to enter politics, it was learned.

After Eisenhower's press statement today, Brig. Gen. Anthony Drexel Biddle described the scene yesterday when the supreme commander told the senior officers of his command of his decision.

The general came in where the officers were assembled for the command post exercise windup in a Paris building and took the stand to give a brief summary of the aims and accomplishments of SHAPE.

Dramatic Incident
"Then occurred," said Biddle, "one of the most dramatic and moving incidents of my experience."

Biddle said Eisenhower told the officers his heart was always in his military work and always will be.

"You could have heard a pin drop," said Biddle. "Here were nearly 70 of the highest ranking military officers in the world. They were silent. Their emotion was so deep (Please Turn to Page 2)

Adams County Free Library

Storehouse Of Knowledge And Culture

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR
While the writer has followed with increasing interest the growth and development of the Adams County Free library, it is only within the past few months that he has enjoyed the privilege of familiarizing himself with the administration of its affairs, and of meeting with those directly concerned with the library's maintenance and operation.

Here we find a group of intelligent, public-spirited men and women giving of their time and talents, not only voluntarily but enthusiastically in an effort to provide 40,000 Adams countians with an educational and cultural institution—an institution characterized by Henry Van Dyke as "a milestone along the pathway of human progress." Said Emerson, "No possession can surpass, or even equal, a good library. In a library we are in the company of the wisest and wittiest men, x x x men who have set in the best order their wisdom and learning;" and Carlyle declares that "The true university is a collection of books."

Eisenhower To Resign Army Commission If He's Nominated

Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe, April 12 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower said today he would resign his army commission only if he is nominated by the Republican party for President.

Eisenhower plans to be in Abilene, Kansas, June 4.

Meanwhile, he said, he has made no plans for making a political campaign for the nomination after he is relieved June 1 as supreme commander in Europe.

Eisenhower told a news conference he had asked that his request for inactive status be made public so "I can devote my time to finishing the job I was sent here to do."

Resign If Nominated
The general will leave April 16 for Brussels to begin a series of farewell visits to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) capitals in Europe.

"If I should be nominated I shall promptly submit to the President my resignation from the armed services," he said.

"I should then be free to speak like any other citizen, on any subject."

Eisenhower's retirement from the NATO command—at his own request—was approved by President Truman and announced yesterday in Washington.

As a five-star general, however, he holds permanent rank in the army, and upon his retirement from command he will merely revert to inactive status. He held similar inactive rank while holding his pre-NATO job as president of Columbia university.

Won't Discuss Politics
Eisenhower told reporters that in the next several weeks—while he (Please Turn to Page 3)

Honeysuckle Blaze Calls Out Firemen

The efforts of Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore, East Middle street, to burn honeysuckle at a property owned by him on the Emmitsburg road adjoining the Peach Orchard were frustrated Friday afternoon by a passerby and the Gettysburg fire department.

Baschore was burning the honeysuckle when the fire department received a call that "a telephone pole is on fire and you better get out there right away." They found the "squire" still tending his brush fire and blissfully unaware of the call until he heard the fire sirens approaching. The pole was only slightly scorched, firemen said.

The home is occupied by Chester Shriver and family.

Negotiators Hold 7th Futile Session To Reach Armistice; Allies Repulse Red Attacks

Seoul, Korea, April 12 (AP) — United Nations infantrymen repulsed Red probing attacks all along the 155-mile Korean battle front last night and early today as the ground war flared anew after a two-day lull.

Bad weather grounded U. N. airplanes, but naval units Friday night continued a steady hammering of Communist positions on both coasts of North Korea.

The Fifth Air Force weekly summary, released today, listed 10 Allied planes lost over Communist territory—none of them to Red fighters. Four Communist MIGs were destroyed, two probably downed and seven damaged in that time. The Red losses occurred last Sunday—the only day the speedy jets tangled in the week.

In at least 10 other places along the front from the Yellow sea to the Sea of Japan, Communist troops probed U. S. positions, skirmished and withdrew.

Today's meeting took only one minute, the shortest this week. Total time for the seven sessions is 33 minutes. They would have taken less time if the generals didn't have to wait for translations.

Harrison told newsmen the U. N. negotiators' waiting attitude is "not frivolous. It's very serious business."

The problems neither side is making a move to solve are (1) Red insistence that Soviet Russia help police a Korean truce and (2) U. N. command insistence that Communists cannot rebuild military airfields in North Korea.

A third key issue involving the exchange of prisoners of war is in the hands of staff officers. They are in recess.

Eisenhower To Resign Army Commission If He's Nominated

Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe, April 12 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower said today he would resign his army commission only if he is nominated by the Republican party for President.

Eisenhower plans to be in Abilene, Kansas, June 4.

Meanwhile, he said, he has made no plans for making a political campaign for the nomination after he is relieved June 1 as supreme commander in Europe.

Eisenhower told a news conference he had asked that his request for inactive status be made public so "I can devote my time to finishing the job I was sent here to do."

Resign If Nominated

The general will leave April 16 for Brussels to begin a series of farewell visits to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) capitals in Europe.

"If I should be nominated I shall promptly submit to the President my resignation from the armed services," he said.

"I should then be free to speak, like any other citizen, on any subject."

Eisenhower's retirement from the NATO command—at his own request—was approved by President Truman and announced yesterday in Washington.

As a five-star general, however, he holds permanent rank in the army, and upon his retirement from command he will merely revert to inactive status. He held similar inactive rank while holding his pre-NATO job as president of Columbia university.

Won't Discuss Politics

Eisenhower told reporters that in the next several weeks—while he

EISENHOWER

Republicans and Democrats, men and women, who are interested in the presidential candidacy of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the chairman for the merged forces said.

Democrats For Ike
There are a number of Democrats who are solidly behind the Eisenhower movement and they are to be included in our committee. We are particularly interested in securing a huge Eisenhower vote in the forthcoming primary, and we want to enroll as many volunteer workers as we can to help bring out the vote.

The new committee is anxious to have women join. Women are also being sought to help bring out the vote.

An intensive campaign of newspaper advertising and broadcasting will be opened Monday and continue until primary day.

Contributions to the Eisenhower campaign in the county are being received by John D. Teeter, treasurer of the committee.

IKE'S GENERALS

there was not a dry eye in the house.

Biddle said Montgomery then mounted the stand and paid high tribute to his "good friend" Eisenhower.

"There was wild applause," said Biddle.

The two officers grabbed one another by the hand, then hugged each other. Eisenhower started to leave. At the door, he turned and shook his hands over his head, prize-fighter fashion.

As he turned away, he reached for his handkerchief to dry his eyes. At that point, Biddle said, the entire assembly rose and cheered.

Montgomery was quoted as having told Eisenhower his experience as a soldier did not equip him for the rough and tumble of politics. The field marshal said he himself had entered into politics briefly after the war and got nothing but trouble.

Nationwide Phone Strike Is Possible

Washington, April 12 (AP) — Top officials of the CIO Communications Workers Union were summoned to a sudden meeting today to discuss the possibility of calling a nationwide telephone strike.

It would be aimed at forcing the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to come to terms with about 43,000 striking Bell Telephone workers in three states and 16,000 Western Electric workers in 43 states.

The five-day walkout already has reduced service in the 43 states, some 200,000 non-striking workers refusing to cross picket lines thrown up around Bell Telephone exchanges. Western Electric is a manufacturing subsidiary of AT and T, which also controls Bell.

Joseph A. Beirne, union president, called the session here to consider a full-fledged showdown.

Soil District Offers Multiflora Roses

The Adams County Soil Conservation district reports that it has about 40,000 multiflora rose plants to distribute among its cooperators. These shrubs are being distributed through the assistance of the Soil Conservation Service with the local Conservation district.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, in describing multiflora roses, said it is "a vigorous growing, easily planted shrub that is most useful for wildlife cover and erosion control. It can be planted on just about any type of soil, with the exception of wet land, and in the course of five years, it will develop into a living fence that averages five to eight feet in height with a six to eight foot crown spread. Ordinary mowing will maintain this living fence in its planted position."

Information on how farmers may obtain this shrub can be obtained from any director of the Soil Conservation district or by calling the Soil Conservation Service at Gettysburg 290.

The local soil conservation district has just completed the distribution of 64,000 tree seedlings to its cooperators.

Nobody Cares What Man Wears In Easter Parade
By HAL BOYLE
New York, April 12 (AP)—It is no secret that the prestige of the male in America has been on the toboggan for some time.
But modern masculinity sinks to new depths of obscurity during the Easter parade.
What part does a man play today in this annual outdoor fashion show? He is about as anonymous as a sardine in the sea. Who cares what he wears? Nobody.
Hour of Feminine Power
This is the hour of feminine power and every woman knows it. She puts on her prettiest feathers and struts the streets in peacock pride. What is that, drab thing that mopes along by her side? Well, it used to be a man.
But a man is no longer a man in the Easter parade. He is a strolling slave to his queen, a dun lackey, a kind of walking watch-fob. If he dressed properly for the spirit of the occasion, he would wear a ring through his nose.
Complete Nonentity
It wasn't that way of yore. Your cavalier of yesteryear was a match for mama in every way during the Easter parade. If she wore silk, he matched her in sin. He wore a bunch of lace at his throat and a bright sword dangled from his side. He was the strutting equal of his lady in every respect, a colorful figure who stirred the pulses of on-lookers with his knightly bearing. Even 50 years ago the newspapers described in great detail the Easter outfits of the dandies of the time.
But since then men, to the grow-ing dismay of custom tailors, have become steadily less important in the world of Easter fashions. A man could show up wearing a poodle haircut and walking on all fours like a dog, and nobody would pay him any mind. They would just look to see what the lady he escorted was wearing.
Yes, papa is a complete nonentity at Easter time. The family budget can only afford finery for one—and that one is mama. She has won the victory of equal rights.

Republicans and Democrats, men and women, who are interested in the presidential candidacy of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, the chairmen for the merged forces said.

Democrats For Ike

"There are a number of Democrats who are solidly behind the Eisenhower movement and they are to be included in our committee. We are primarily interested in securing a huge Eisenhower vote in the forthcoming primary, and we want to enroll as many volunteer workers as we can to help bring out the vote."

The new committee is anxious to have women join. Women are also being sought to help bring out the vote.

An intensive campaign of newspaper advertising and broadcasting will be opened Monday and continue until primary day.

Contributions to the Eisenhower campaign in the county are being received by John D. Teeter, treasurer of the committee.

there was not a dry eye in the house."

Biddle said Montgomery then mounted the stand and paid high tribute to his "good friend" Eisenhower.

"There was wild applause," said Biddle.

The two officers grabbed one another by the hand, then hugged each other. Eisenhower started to leave. At the door, he turned and shook his hands over his head, prize-fighter fashion.

As he turned away, he reached for his handkerchief to dry his eyes.

At that point, Biddle said, the entire assembly rose and cheered.

Montgomery was quoted as having told Eisenhower his experience as a soldier did not equip him for the rough and tumble of politics. The field marshal said he himself had entered into politics briefly after the war and got nothing but trouble.

Nationwide Phone Strike Is Possible

Washington, April 12 (AP) — Top officials of the CIO Communications Workers Union were summoned to a sudden meeting today to discuss the possibility of calling a nationwide telephone strike.

It would be aimed at forcing the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to come to terms with about 43,000 striking Bell Telephone workers in three states and 16,000 Western Electric workers in 43 states.

The five-day walkout already has reduced service in the 43 states, some 200,000 non-striking workers refusing to cross picket lines thrown up around Bell Telephone exchanges. Western Electric is a manufacturing subsidiary of AT and T, which also controls Bell.

Joseph A. Beltrone, union president, called the session here to consider a full-fledged showdown.

Nobody Cares What Man Wears In Easter Parade

By HAL BOYLE

New York, April 12 (AP)—It is no secret that the prestige of the male in America has been on the toboggan for some time.

But modern masculinity sinks to new depths of obscurity during the Easter parade.

What part does a man play today in this annual outdoor fashion show? He is about as anonymous as a sardine in the sea. Who cares what he wears? Nobody.

But a man is no longer a man in the Easter parade. He is a strolling slave to his queen, a dun lachey, a kind of walking watch-fob. If he dressed properly for the spirit of the occasion, he would wear a ring through his nose.

Complete Nonentity

It wasn't that way of yore. Your cavalier of yesteryear was a match for mama in every way during the Easter parade. If she wore silk, he matched her in satin. He wore a bunch of lace at his throat and a bright sword dangled from his side.

GIANTS' STOCK SOARS DUE TO NEW ADDITIONS

By ED CORRIGAN

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Seven National League managers were thinking that, well, maybe they could spare a little sympathy for Leo Durocher, the harassed manager of the champion New York Giants. He had lost Monte Irvin and Willie Mays, two-thirds of his regular outfield, and what manager can afford that sort of a blow?

But upon thinking it all over to day, they went back to feeling sorry for themselves—all except Brooklyn's Chuck Dressen, who still thinks the Dodgers will win the pot.

Not only does Durocher have Bob Elliott to take Irvin's spot, but he has decided to give Dick Wakefield, who has played in just about all four corners of the country, a tryout. This will be the last one for the former University of Michigan bonus baby. He was turned down by several other major league teams.

The way Durocher has been waving his magic wand, it wouldn't be a surprise to see Wakefield come through. Although The Lip is counting on his newest acquisition for pinch-hitting chores at the moment, Dick could fill Mays' shoes if he looks good. He's been pounding the ball with authority and has banged out three hits in his four trips to the plate including two in yesterday's 4-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

The Giants had been taking regular pastings from the Tribe in their cross-country tour, and the New York win was only the third in 14 games between the two teams, hardly a record to bring joy to the front office of the defending champions.

Bobo In Form
The Dodgers managed to pull one out of the fire, overcoming the Washington Senators, 4-3 after trailing 2-0, after three innings. Starter Chris Van Cuyk was the winner. Bobo Newsum, at 43, starting his fifth term with the Nats, hurled the last three innings and sent nine Dodgers in a row back to the bench.

The Boston Braves' Warren Spahn gave up nine hits, but they were scattered enough to enable his team to decimate the Boston Red Sox, 5-4.

In the only other game between major league clubs, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-7, in a six inning contest. It was called to permit the teams to catch trains. Lucky for the Phils. The Cards scored twice in the seventh to go ahead, but the Phils couldn't get in their time at bat, so the score reverted to the end of the sixth.

The world champion New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers lost. The Yanks dropped a 6-2 verdict to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league and the Tigers were trimmed by the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern association, 6-3.

PICKS GIANTS TO TAKE NATIONAL LOOP PENNANT

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, April 12 (AP)—Days of soul searching and a certain amount of prejudice have gone into the following prediction on how they will finish in the National League race. The process is much harder than plain expiring.

1—New York; 2—Brooklyn; 3—Philadelphia; 4—St. Louis; 5—Boston; 6—Cincinnati; 7—Chicago; 8—Pittsburgh.

Only two days ago we had given up on the Giants, just as they had given up on themselves after Monte Irvin broke his ankle. But then they made the deal for Bob Elliott, who should unload about 25 home runs into the short left field stands at the Polo Grounds, and now we feel they might just make it.

Finest Pitching
Carl Hubbell said down in Phoenix: "Give me the pitching and a tight defense and you can have the hitting. I will win the pennant." That, coming from the old master, casts the deciding vote.

The Giants still have much the finest pitching staff in their league and they will have a crack inner defense once little Davey Williams, the baby of the club, settles down to his new responsibilities. Their outer defense will win no prizes after Willie Mays goes into the service next month, but it looks like you can't have everything.

Word from the Dodgers is that they no longer fear the Giants since Irvin's injury and Willie's call to the colors. The feeling here is that Charles Dressen's team suffered as great a loss in the drafting of large Don Newcombe, and that it will discover some within a short time. Besides, several key Brooklynies, including Reese, Robinson and Furillo, are over that 30 mark now and will begin to feel the heat of August.

Phillies A Danger
Philadelphia is the danger. Curt Simmons, a potentially great pitcher, rejoins the team shortly, and Connie Ryan has pulled the infield together. It is a good looking outfit, but several of its stars still are burning because they were not permitted to take their wives to training camp. Little things which do not show in the record books often decide pennants.

Some are picking the Cardinals to be right up there at the finish. This seems to be at least partly out of admiration for their new manager, Eddie Stanky. Eddie will have them scrapping, all right, but he never could pitch a lick, and you've got to have pitching.

Boston, though loaded with rookies, should have enough pitching to top a somewhat musclebound second division. Earl Torgeson, the Braves' bespectacled first-baseman, was on the block all winter with no takers, by the way.

Cincinnati, slow afoot and with little hitting, wins the sixth slot more or less by default, and then comes probably the trickiest bit of selecting yet. Both the Cubs and the Pirates are pretty bad. We are inclined to take a flyer on the Cubs, because they at least stood still and only added a year to their average age of last spring. The Pirates are operating with bottle babies, strictly, and it's going to be a long summer for Billy Meyer, their governor.

GIANTS' STOCK SOARS DUE TO NEW ADDITIONS

By ED CORRIGAN

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Seven National League managers were thinking that, well, maybe they could spare a little sympathy for Leo Durocher, the harassed manager of the champion New York Giants. He had lost Monte Irvin and Willie Mays, two-thirds of his regular outfield, and what manager can afford that sort of a blow?

But upon thinking it all over today, they went back to feeling sorry for themselves—all except Brooklyn's Chuck Dressen, who still thinks the Dodgers will win the pot.

Not only does Durocher have Bob Elliott to take Irvin's spot, but he has decided to give Dick Wakefield, who has played in just about all four corners of the country, a tryout. This will be the last one for the former University of Michigan bonus baby. He was turned down by several other major league teams.

The way Durocher has been waving his magic wand, it wouldn't be a surprise to see Wakefield come through. Although The Lip is counting on his newest acquisition for pinch-hitting chores at the moment, Dick could fill Mays shoes if he looks good. He's been pounding the ball with authority and has banged out three hits in his four trips to the plate including two in yesterday's 4-0 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

The Giants had been taking regular pastings from the Tribe in their cross-country tour, and the New York win was only the third in 14 games between the two teams, hardly a record to bring joy to the front office of the defending champions.

Bobo In Form
The Dodgers managed to pull one out of the fire, overcoming the Washington Senators, 4-3 after trailing 2-0, after three innings. Starter Chris Van Cuyk was the winner. Bobo Newsom, at 43, starting his fifth term with the Nats, hurled the last three innings and sent nine Dodgers in a row back to the bench.

The Boston Braves' Warren Spahn gave up nine hits, but they were scattered enough to enable his team to decision the Boston Red Sox, 5-4.

In the only other game between major league clubs, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-7, in a six inning contest. It was called to permit the teams to catch trains. Lucky for the Phils. The Cards scored twice in the seventh to go ahead, but the Phils couldn't get in their time at bat, so the score reverted to the end of the sixth.

The world champion New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers lost. The Yanks dropped a 6-2 verdict to the Baltimore Orioles of the International league and the Tigers were trimmed by the Chattanooga Lookouts of the Southern association, 6-3.

They were responsible for the two best nine-hole scores of yesterday's first round as they tied for the 18-hole lead with four-under-par 67s.

An 11-man 70-group included Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., and Art Wall, Jr., Honesdale, Pa.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, April 12 (AP)—It will come as no surprise to our readers to learn that the Cleveland Indians, bless their optimistic little hearts, are going to reward their loyal following with an American league flag. This, though, is new—the full final standing in the junior circuit:

1 Cleveland; 2 New York; 3 Detroit; 4 Boston; 5 St. Louis; 6 Chicago; 7 Philadelphia; 8 Washington.

For the daily double we recommend numbers 1 and 2. Any other combination might be accompanied by a slight element of risk, but you can go to sleep on the two big clubs won't know which way they went.

If the Indians miss this time, the year the Yankees lose both Joe DiMaggio and Gerry Coleman, we promise faithfully never again to pick them higher than the second division. If a man has any spunk at all he will stand being made a sucker just so long.

There is only one excuse which might just possibly be acceptable. If Luke Easter's mended knee fails to hold up, or he hurts it again, the Tribe would then lose the heart of the attack.

If Casey Stengel makes it four in a row he gets our vote as the greatest manager of them all.

There is nothing especially daring about the other placings except, possibly, the elevation of the rebuilt St. Louis Browns from the cellar into fifth place. That's quite a jump, but after living with Rogers Hornsby and his hard-bitten crew for some days and observing the brand of ball they intend to play we honestly feel it is within reason.

On the other hand, there is a definite feeling among baseball men that the Chicago White Sox shot their war last year when a new manager, Paul Richards, lashed them into fourth place. The fire and hustle so evident last spring appears to have subsided. Perhaps it is not as hungry a club as it was.

A big league official offered to bet they would fall back as far as seventh, but that's ridiculous. The Athletics and the Senators have to land some place.

FCC Lifts Ban On New TV Stations

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Government sources said today the ban will be lifted Monday on construction of new television stations.

The Federal Communications Commission, which imposed the ban Oct. 1, 1948, had no official statement for immediate publication.

It was reported unofficially, however, that the unfreeze order also would allocate TV channels throughout the nation and set a 75-day period for filing applications for television licenses.

Waynesboro, Pa., April 12 (AP)—Mrs. Anne Copenhaver, 18, of Waynesboro R. 3, was killed near here in a two-car collision last night.

Her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sellers, suffered two fractured legs in the accident and was removed to the Waynesboro hospital.

PICKS GIANTS TO TAKE NATIONAL LOOP PENNANT

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, April 12 (AP)—Days of soul searching and a certain amount of prejudice have gone into the following prediction on how they will finish in the National League race. The process is much harder than plain experting.

1—New York; 2—Brooklyn; 3—Philadelphia; 4—St. Louis; 5—Boston; 6—Cincinnati; 7—Chicago; 8—Pittsburgh.

Only two days ago we had given up on the Giants, just as they had given up on themselves after Monte Irvin broke his ankle. But then they made the deal for Bob Elliott, who should unload about 25 home runs into the short left field stands at the Polo Grounds, and now we feel they might just make it.

Finest Pitching
Carl Hubbell said down in Phoenix: "Give me the pitching and a tight defense and you can have the hitting. I will win the pennant." That, coming from the old master, casts the deciding vote.

The Giants still have much the finest pitching staff in their league and they will have a crack inner defense once little Davey Williams, the baby of the club, settles down to his new responsibilities. Their outer defense will win no prizes after Willie Mays goes into the service next month, but it looks like you can't have everything.

Word from the Dodgers is that they no longer fear the Giants since Irvin's injury and Willie's call to the colors. The feeling here is that Charles Dressen's team suffered a great loss in the drafting of large Don Newcombe, and that it will discover some within a short time. Besides, several key Brooklynies, including Reese, Robinson and Furillo, are over that 30 mark now and will begin to feel the heat of August.

Phillies A Danger
Philadelphia is the danger. Curt Simmons, a potentially great pitcher, rejoins the team shortly, and Connie Ryan has pulled the infield together. It is a good looking outfit, but several of its stars still are burning because they were not permitted to take their wives to training camp. Little things which do not show in the record books often decide pennants.

Some are picking the Cardinals to be right up there at the finish. This seems to be at least partly out of admiration for their new manager, Eddie Stanky. Eddie will have them scrapping, all right, but he never could pitch a lick, and you've got to have pitching.

Boston, though loaded with rookies, should have enough pitching to top a somewhat musclebound second division. Earl Torgeson, the Braves' bespectacled first-baseman, was on the block all winter with no takers, by the way.

Cincinnati, slow afoot and with little hitting, wins the sixth slot more or less by default, and then comes probably the trickiest bit of selecting yet. Both the Cubs and the Pirates are pretty bad. We are inclined to take a flyer on the Cubs because they at least stood still and only added a year to their average age of last spring. The Pirates are operating with bottle babies, strictly, and it's going to be a long summer for Billy Meyer, their governor.

Sport Shorts

Hillsdale, Calif., April 12 (AP)—Pitcher Bill Werle, fined $500 and suspended indefinitely from the Pittsburgh Pirates for breaking training rules, says the entire affair is the "greatest mixup and piece of misinterpretation I've ever heard of."

In Washington last night Pirate General Manager Branch Rickey announced that he had reinstated Werle but that the April 3 fine of $500 still stood.

BILLY LOES IS SHOWING FORM FOR BROOKLYN

By RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

If his work this spring is any criterion the Brooklyn Dodgers can write off their investment in pitcher Billy Loes as "paid in full."

Loes is one of baseball's bonus babies. He received $21,000 for signing with Brooklyn in 1949 but until this spring has shown little to merit the outlay.

Manager Chuck Dressen has been impressed by the kid's work.

"He might win some games for us," Dressen said. "He's been firing the ball hard since his arm lost that stiffness and he has a heck of a curve."

Loes strengthened his case yesterday as he hurled three hitless and scoreless innings against the world champion New York Yankees in the Yankee stadium.

Ralph Branca entrusted Loes with an 8-2 lead and the young pitcher mowed the Yanks down in order until the ninth when he permitted two walks before retiring the side.

Herm Wehmeier, Hank Perkowski and Frank Smith almost turned in the fourth no-hit no-run game of the spring as they teamed up to pitch the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-0, one-hit victory over Detroit at Columbus, Ohio. Outfielder Pat Mullin spoiled the bid by cracking a double against Wehmeier in the second inning. Tigers outfielder Hoot Evers suffered a broken right thumb in the fourth inning when struck by one of Wehmeier's pitches.

Robin Roberts turned up for the season's opener by pitching the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-2 triumph over their Baltimore Oriole farm hands at Baltimore.

The New York Giants nipped the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, in 12 innings at Kansas City. Chuck Diering, weak-hitting outfielder, who entered the game without a hit in 38 trips to the plate, singled home Al Dark from third with the winning run. It was his second hit of the game.

A scheduled game between the White Sox and Cubs at Chicago's Wrigley Field was called off because of cold weather.

LOPEZ, DUROCHER FAVOR INDIANS

Evansville, Ind., April 12 (AP)—Are the experts right in picking Cleveland to win the American league pennant this year?

The manager of the Tribe and the manager of the New York Giants, whom Cleveland meets here today for the 16th time this exhibition season, says: "Yes—if x x x."

Al Lopez, in his second year as the Indians' pilot, says:

"We've got the pitching. We've got the long ball hitters. All we need is to achieve a better club batting average. Last year, I believe, we hit .256. If we hit .270 this season, we'll be the champs."

Leo Durocher, manager of the Giants, the Indians' springtime playmates, has watched Cleveland cooly both last spring and in the past five weeks. He says:

"You have a very solid club. But it all depends on big Luke Easter. x x x The Easter I see out there now seems to be enjoying perfect health. As long as he is healthy, the other clubs in your league ought to be pretty sick. But an injury to Luke is like an injury to my guy Monte Irvin x x x men like Irvin and Easter you don't replace. You substitute, but you don't replace."

Weatherman Issues Easter Fashion Tip

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Easter fashion tip from the weatherman: Tote an umbrella if you live east of the Mississippi river.

Some rain and showers will sprinkle that vast area on Easter Sunday, the National Weather Bureau said today. It added:

West of the Mississippi generally fair and mild, but the Pacific northwest will get some rain. The middle Atlantic and southeastern states will be warm. The extreme northeast will be cool.

HIS HEAD CRUSHED

Norristown, Pa., April 12 (AP)—Charles Ragusa, 58, Norristown, was killed yesterday when his head was crushed between a freight car and the blade of a bulldozer.

Ragusa died while working on a railroad siding at the asbestos plant of E. J. Lavino & Co., Plymouth township, Montgomery county. He was one of a crew of four men using the bulldozer to move the freight car up a slight incline to a loading ramp. He was taken to Montgomery hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Eisenhower To Resign Army Commission If He's Nominated

remains here—he will devote himself entirely to the affairs of his command.

"I am not going to discuss any kind of political questions, so I can devote my attention to this job."

"I must prevent politics from affecting this vital job."

"There are important things to do which I believe I can do," he said.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., (R-Mass.), manager of the Eisenhower-for-President campaign, was at Eisenhower's headquarters for four days early this month, returning to the United States April 8. They held lengthy conferences and Lodge gave him political advice.

As to his possible successor as supreme commander, Eisenhower asserted, "I have not the slightest information on that matter."

Two Are Mentioned
His chief of staff, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, and the Allied commander in Korea, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, have been prominently mentioned in speculation about the new NATO boss.

"Any one of a number of men could fill the job, possibly far better than I," the general said.

He said he has made no detailed plans for activity after his return to the United States, but that he would go to his hometown of Abilene, Kan., early in June for ceremonies opening the Eisenhower foundation, a good-citizenship organization founded by him and his brother.

Eisenhower made a 15-minute address to some 200 newsmen in the main conference room at Supreme headquarters but refused to submit to questioning.

Later he made a separate statement for newswire cameramen and radio broadcasters.

Most of his remarks were extemporaneous but in a brief prepared statement he declared:

Must Not Falter
"We must not let this great cooperative work to which we have set our hand falter or perish. The quest of peace and is always with us. We must always keep it in focus. Security, peace and liberty—these are the watchwords by which we live at SHAPE."

He explained that he had delayed publication of his request for inactive status until after top NATO command discussions which ended yesterday.

"I was anxious to inform my military colleagues personally that my situation had so changed that I was asking to be relieved," he said.

The general began his conference by explaining that "in the past month my personal life has been markedly changed."

"Since my January statement (in which he said he would accept but not seek the Republican nomination) events in the United States and their incessant repercussions here have made it impossible for me to remain."

Clarifies Position
"These pressures compel me to wait no longer. I hope that this act of asking for relief will release me from these pressures and make it possible for me to finish the job I have set for myself here."

He said he would not "try to tell you my feelings on leaving this post because I have not left yet. I hope to see you again, possibly 48 hours before I leave, but in the meantime, I will not discuss political questions."

He explained that he was meeting the press today "to respond to your invitation to do something to clarify my position based on the letters released in Washington yesterday."

"In the main," Eisenhower said, "the letters speak for themselves. They briefly summarize the accomplishments of SHAPE that allow me to return to civilian pursuits. I was assigned to this post from an inactive status, and it has always been my intention to return to civilian life when my assignment was finished."

OUR WALKING LIBRARY

I have a little book in my library title "Books Once Were Men." I'll turn that title around and say, Men are themselves Books! It was said of W. Macneille Dixon, the distinguished author of that great book "The Human Situation," that "he read widely, not in books alone but in the minds and hearts of his fellow men." And it was Montaigne who said: "I wish to make the world my book of study."

Every human being is in a sense a book. Some just brief books and some big books, perhaps of many volumes. But there they are, anyway — walking around, on streets, behind plows upon the farm, in legislative halls, in schools and colleges, on the sea — everywhere. Books in the flesh to note, to discover and from which to learn. Our greatest books of fiction are copied or borrowed from walking, moving men and women — themselves books!

Human beings, in themselves, are far more interesting, instructive, and revealing than anything uttered from their lips! The world is filled with unpublished books that lie dormant in lives that go about their tasks, yet which are freely open for the reading of any one of us who have the insight and patient to read therefrom. Even the knowledge of ourselves may well be revealed as we read into the life-book of others.

Hawthorne would read the thoughts of a person, translated from some expression given, make a note of it, and then elaborate upon it in a written book or story. I knew a famous columnist who once told me he read only people, and not printed books, for, he said: "I do not want to write anything that is not true." So he took his knowledge from those walking men and women who were books to him.

We who love books like to have special ones handy, from which to read often, but far more enriching and comforting is to have a selected and prized handful of human books, near at hand, in the form of friends who continually inspire, teach, and admonish us!

The lilacs are in bloom once more.

As they have done the years before,

Their loveliest dresses wear.

'Tis only man does wrong.

But whatsoe'er man shall do

For greed or lust for power,

OUR WALKING LIBRARY

I have a little book in my library titled "Books Once Were Men." I'll turn that title around and say, Men are themselves Books! It was said of W. Macneile Dixon, the distinguished author of that great book "The Human Situation," that "he read widely, not in books alone but in the minds and hearts of his fellow men." And it was Montaigne who said: "I wish to make the world my book of study."

Every human being is in a sense a book. Some just brief books and some big books, perhaps of many volumes. But there they are, anyway — walking around, on streets, behind plows upon the farm, in legislative halls, in schools and colleges, on the sea — everywhere. Books in the flesh to note, to discover and from which to learn. Our greatest books of fiction are copied or borrowed from walking, moving men and women — themselves books!

Human beings, in themselves, are far more interesting, instructive, and revealing than anything uttered from their lips! The world is filled with unpublished books that lie dormant in lives that go about their tasks, yet which are freely open for the reading of any one of us who have the insight and patience to read them. Even the knowledge of ourselves may well be revealed as we read into the life-book of others.

Hawthorne would read the thoughts of a person, translated from some expression given, make a note of it, and then elaborate upon it in a written book or story. I knew a famous columnist who once told me he read only people, and not printed books, for he said: "I do not want to write anything that is not true." So he took his knowledge from those walking men and women who were books to him.

We who love books like to have special ones handy, from which to read often, but far more enriching and comforting is to have a selected and prized handful of human books, near at hand, in the form of friends who continually inspire, teach, and admonish us!

REO U.S. PAT. OFF.
by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S.O.E.

Making an occasional mistake in driving should be no reason for discouragement. Even a clock that isn't running is right twice a day.

Prelude To Springtime

Another reason for saying goodbye to winter unfortunately finds millions of motorists making the same old mistakes that have resulted in so much unnecessary expense and trouble all these years. There is much to be done on any car, but few remember to take the car out on the open road to get a real line on its needs. Here very often minor ills will clear up of their own accord, leaving the way open for investing in more important servicing. At least one Saturday afternoon should be invested in checking over the car's body with a grease stick. This is one of the best ways of taking a close look at the situation. It's surprising how much impending trouble can be nipped in the bud by this simple process.

Take out the anti-freeze and discard it, permanent type or otherwise, and fill up with clean water to which some rust inhibitor has been added. Do this before scheduling springtime service. And watch for evidences of coolant leakage which can be corrected in the shop later. Check to see if the engine has any tendency toward overheating. Try the car on some steep hills.

The way some people rush to the repair shop with a vague sense that the car needs a lot of attention is too reminiscent of the man who goes to his physician with the news that he "feels awful."

Under Their Hood

Some of the lesser known improvements in the new cars are worthy of more serious consideration. I am particularly impressed by the wind scoop utilized by one of the companies to direct cool air to the carburetor. The scoop isn't visible but it serves to lessen the risk of vapor lock. Then there is the improvement in the vacuum pump section of the fuel pump, double action of its diaphragm providing better windshield wiping. More power has been obtained from several by use of a four barrel carburetor. Fuel is fed from the first two barrels for normal operation.

Wrong Way To Buy

Show me the man who buys gas for his car in even amounts, or who always stops when the pump reads an even amount of money, and I'll show you someone who is headed for trouble. He is the sore of motorist who may run out of gas because he never has a full tank. He will be plagued with water in the gas because of the condensation which develops in a gas tank that is always partly empty. He will also never have a close check on gas mileage.

"People who occasionally toss in an erratic piece of driving ought not to be surprised if the engine's ignition system goes a bit on the wild side now and again. There is what mechanics call an induced spark which may sometimes produce a misfire. Then there is the pre-ignition which occurs because a bit of carbon becomes incandescent. In fact, if there is a sharp edge of the cylinder head exposed to the flame of combustion it may touch off the mixture at some unexpected point. Any thing can happen, and why be so surprised when it does?"

Not What It Seemed

It's so easy to slip up on our reasoning when reaching conclusions about the oddities of our cars I don't wonder that so many motorists get way off the track. Here I am reminded of the fellow who found that the clutch no longer chattered after he had had the clutch gear replaced in the transmission. There had been noise and the gear replacement had been decided upon without any reference to the clutch. When the clutch was cured of its jitters the owned jumped to the conclusion that this was due to the new part. The chances are, however, that chatter disappeared because in replacing the transmission the mechanics had corrected misalignment between the engine, clutch and gearbox.

Hydraulics Not Perfect

A high school student, about to prepare a paper on modern automobile braking, asks which is the safer kind of brake: mechanical or hydraulic. It is a good question because so many millions of drivers assume that because all of the modern cars have hydraulic brakes this must of itself be evidence that fluid braking is better. Actually, hydraulic brakes can fail more easily than mechanical brakes, but they are used largely because they afford better equalization.

Note that I did not say that they afford perfect equalization. Since there is mechanical action from the brake pistons to the brake shoes there is ample opportunity for things to vary between the four brakes not to mention the difference in traction because of varying tires and pressures.

The trade will agree with me that the greatest risk in today's braking is assuming that because the system bears the magic word hydraulic it isn't necessary to inspect it regularly and carefully.

Pressure Going Up

Once again I want to caution against overlooking the importance of keeping the radiator hose connections tight. This year more cooling systems have been fitted with higher pressure caps so that there is more internal stress should overheating develop. The change is intended to help check overheating, and loss of coolant, should temperatures temporarily reach the boiling point. But where temperatures rise to the danger point the system has to hold against leakage. Be sure things are not leaky at their seams.

Small Form For Safety

Hats off to the company which is now supplying the trade with brake fluid in eight ounce bottles. They have the usual quantity supplies for the larger shops, but since the average braking system requires from five to eight ounces for a refill this new one-car shot of fluid eliminates the possibility of contamination of the fluid. Sometimes fluid has been accidentally mixed with oil in open containers. Result of such error is to damage rubber parts of the braking system and perhaps bring on an accident.

When considering how much additional safe mileage there may be in a tire its tread is not the first consideration because, if this is worn and the tire's carcass is good, it could be re-capped. The tire itself should be carefully checked for any signs of wall breakdown or weakness. The tire man will also have some suggestions as he may know from experience what to expect from the particular kind of tire. One worry most owners can cross off, however, is the age of the tire. Just because a tire is several years old is no reason to discard it.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. I find it necessary to pump on the accelerator to keep the engine from stalling after getting started and during the early part of the warm-up. K. K. F.

A. This looks like a good time to check the automatic choke. Obviously the mixture is much too lean during the warm-up period.

Q. Apparently the motor temperature gauge has gone bad because no reading is shown on my way home from business, nor on the way down in the morning. Will you kindly tell me what to check into by way of a remedy? Wm. L. F.

A. It seems to me that there is more likelihood that the motor thermostat isn't working. Check that first.

Q. After a reining there is terrific squealing of the front brakes of my car. The mechanic has tried just about everything in an effort to check this. Have you any ideas that might help him? H. R. G.

A. This car has front brakes equipped with two brake cylinders each. It is necessary to give the heel and toe of each shoe .001 inch difference in accordance with the diagram which I am enclosing. I am not surprised that he is overlooking this.

Q. Due to the engine "conking out" so often I have cleaned the fuel filter bowl frequently, and have had the gas lines blown out. How can I get rid of the foreign matter or whatever is causing this? N. L. K.

A. Perhaps it isn't gas trouble at all. I suggest that you check the little pigtail wire between the condenser and the breaker arm in the distributor. It may be broken inside its insulation, causing uncertain contact.

Q. Would you advise continuing to buy oil filter cartridges for the motor of my car? I now have 65,000 miles on the car and may trade it in this year. J. H. H.

A. I would certainly make the small investment in an occasional new cartridge. The motor in your car carries hydraulic valve lifters. You do not want to risk having any dirty get into them.

Q. Ever since installing a new battery I notice that the ammeter shows more charge than usual. Do you think this indicates trouble with the current regulator? M. M. N.

A. Not necessarily. The new battery may not be fully charged. If the battery is overcharged its cells will need water too often due to excessive gassing. Watch is carefully.

Q. There is a peculiar squealing noise in my car when the engine is running, yet it doesn't seem to be in the engine itself. L. T.

A. I believe this is in the seal of the fluid drive unit. I suggest replacing this.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford, 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

SIX INDICTED FOR HIJACKING

Scranton, Pa., April 12 (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted six men in the hijacking of a truck cargo of whisky and playing cards valued at $40,000.

The six indicted yesterday were Walter, Marion and Jesse Wolford, brothers, of Elvaton, Md. John W. Gray, Millersburg, Md. Fred Ross, Harrisburg, and Donald P. Otteger, also Harrisburg.

The truck load of 699 cases of whisky, 179 cases of playing cards, and 39 cases of other merchandise was stolen last January 19 after the driver parked his trailer on the Pennsylvania Turnpike in York county and went home in the trailer. He discovered the theft when he returned the following day.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, aided by Maryland and Pennsylvania state police, recovered most of the cargo with the arrest of the men involved. The six were indicted specially on charges of conspiracy and theft in connection with Interstate Commerce.

CIO CWA Announce Strike Settlement

Detroit, April 12 (AP)—The CIO Communications Workers of America announced settlement Friday of their telephone strike against the Michigan Bell system.

Settlement of the Michigan strike, terms of which were not immediately available, had been expected to end a pattern for contracts to end purely telephone worker walkouts in Ohio, New Jersey, and northern California.

It was not immediately clear whether the CWA would order telephone workers to cross Western Election union picket lines in these four and 39 other states.

Except in the four telephone-struck states, operators and maintenance men are out because they refuse to cross picket lines of Western Electric workers, also members of the Communications Workers union.

Bread, Cake And Pie Prices Going Up

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Bread, cake and pie prices are going up during the next 30 days.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), Thursday announced new ceiling prices which will boost the price of a loaf of bread about one cent, more expensive cakes as much as five cents.

The new regulation covers bread, rolls, fresh-baked cookies, pastries, sweet yeast-raised goods, doughnuts, crullers, pies and frozen bakery items. It does not cover generally less perishable items such as packaged crackers, biscuits, pretzels or cookies. Those prices remain unchanged.

The ceilings are based on how much bakers have raised prices during the last two years and will vary across the country. Bakers may charge 16 per cent more than the highest 1949 prices. Those who have been selling for more than this will have to cut prices.

Adams County Free Library

Storehouse Of Knowledge And Culture

(Continued from Page 1) made surprising and unexpected progress; and this article is written, not only to set forth the library's present status, but to commend wholeheartedly those who have been instrumental in giving our county an institution invaluable to community life. Its services supplement and illumine every civic and cultural project.

Home, church and school are recognized as cornerstones in character building and enlightened citizenship, and no other agency supplements this triumvirate's mission in our social structure as does the public library.

Quotes Carnegie The canny Scotsman, Andrew Carnegie, master industrialist, and one of the most extraordinary men of his time, appreciated to the full, because of his own personal experience and struggle for success the public library's vitally important role in our American way of life. As part of a long series of philanthropies he provided for and established more than 2,000 public libraries in cities and towns throughout the United States and Great Britain.

Speaking at the dedication of a Carnegie public library in Bradock, Pennsylvania he said:

"One of the greatest satisfactions of my life is the privilege I have enjoyed of helping my fellow-workmen to help themselves. This library will give them an opportunity to make themselves more valuable to their employers, and to acquire and accumulate intellectual capital that cannot be impaired or depreciated. x x x I can say from personal experience that no benefit can be bestowed upon a community so great as that which places within the reach of all the treasures of the world, which are stored up in books. x x x Let me stress the cultivation of a taste for reading, so that you may know what the world has done and is doing, and the drift of affairs. x x x This is the age of the Specialist. If you are a mechanic, then from this library study every work bearing upon the subject of mechanics. If a chemist, then every work bearing upon chemistry; and likewise with every other occupation, trade or profession. Let it never be said that any man knows more about your specialty than you know yourself."

self. This should be your ideal. And to bring sweetness and light into your life learn to read promiscuously. Make sure to know something about as many things as possible."

The above is cited because, in our correspondent's judgment, not sufficient emphasis has been placed upon the importance of adult reading as compared with the incentives and encouragement afforded children and teen-agers.

The late President Hadley, of Yale, was a strong advocate of cultivated reading habits beyond high school, college, and university, declaring that: we can no longer afford to separate our years into two periods—one of training, the other of work.

He tells us that—
"The education received by the grown man or woman in the library is more independent and self-directed than that received by the boy or girl in school. It leads toward and contributes to mental and moral growth, with-out which human life drifts constantly toward inaction and stagnation. In other words, the modern library supplements and carries to its logical conclusion the education provided by the modern school. Each of us in our life's work, whether in the office, store, factory, or household, cannot help experiencing a certain narrowing effect from our daily routine; but the habit of reading books dealing with our work will counteract this narrowing tendency. Such reading gives us command of data a hundred times wider than our own; it broadens our capacity for observation instead of narrowing it."

"Moreover, to fit ourselves for worthy citizenship and public service in an expanding nation, we must read history; we must acquaint ourselves with the deeds of great men of other times in other nations. New problems constantly confronting us for solution only increase the necessity of knowing what others have done. The larger the world in which we live, the greater the demands it places upon us.

"But more important than either business success or political achievement, is the development of personal character, and the study of literature, be it poetry or prose, drama or fiction, furnishes the needed stimulus for such development."

Complements Schooling

In a few words Herbert Spencer sums up the vital importance of adult reading and study beyond the school years for the man or woman desiring to round out his or her education. He observes that "The only real education any man ever gets is the education he gives himself," and the public library, in this writer's opinion, is the one institution best equipped to supplement and complement what one learns during the average 8½ years spent in school.

Figures make dull reading, but the following touching one or two high spots in our library's growth should be interesting:

On January 5, 1946, in cramped, rented quarters, The Adams County Free Library opened its doors for the first time. In contrast it now occupies its own building with excellent accommodations, sufficient for present needs and future expansion.

11,174 Loans Last Month

Beginning with only 3,500 books, it can now boast of 17,684 volumes, together with magazines, pamphlets, and other publications, as well as a current newspaper file; and a comprehensive reference and fact-finding section also should be noted.

Book loans during the first month of operation (January, 1946) numbered 1,293; during March of this year (1952), these loans had increased to 14,174, of which 11,709 were to schools.

An ordinary truck, used at the start for book deliveries to library branches and stations throughout the country, was after a month or so, converted into a bookmobile. These branch libraries, and 64 book stations (54 thereof being located in public schools), are served by the bookmobile.

Larger Staff Now

A librarian and three assistants are now employed as against a librarian and one assistant at the opening.

In further reference to the bookmobile, this machine after 6 years of hard usage, subjected to all kinds of weather and roads, and covering thousands of miles annually, is long past due for either a complete overhauling or replacement, and it is to be hoped that some philanthropic friend will lend a helping hand in this regard.

All of the foregoing has been accomplished in six short years notwithstanding many handicaps, not the least of which has been, as indicated, a lack of sufficient funds to meet the library's ordinary obligations, and also permit it to pursue its expansion program.

As one Adams countian interested in the welfare of the county generally, and in its educational and cultural projects particularly, may I respectfully urge those of my readers who have not already visited our library to do so at the first opportunity. I am sure you will be agreeably surprised at the reading facilities available to you. I think you will agree with me that we have the nucleus of what is bound to become one of our county's notable and outstanding institutions.

Needs Substantial Support To expedite and effect this much desired objective, however, will require substantial financial support. This support, in whatever degree, should, so far as practicable, be contributed annually at fixed periods, thus enabling those responsible for the maintenance of the library to meet their commitments promptly, and also engage in future planning with confidence, and in a business-like fashion.

Records disclose, when the library was established, that 3,500 Adams countians testified to their interest in it by purchasing that number of yearly memberships at $1.00 each. This was a most propitious beginning, but it is to be regretted that through oversight, not doubt, or procrastination, this annual membership support has now reached the vanishing point.

It goes without saying that a regular and dependable source of income, such as this was intended to be, is needed to carry, at least in part, the library's overhead. Therefore, if the 3,500 members mentioned could see their way clear to revive their yearly memberships, and also enlist in each instance the interest of a friend, I can assure them of the sincere gratitude and appreciation of every library official.

Tribute To Staff
Let me repeat that I cannot stress too strongly the tremendous importance of this library project, and, if loyally and substantially supported, I can vision in the not too distant future one of our county's proudest monuments — THE ADAMS COUNTY FREE LIBRARY.

In the preparation of this article names of individuals were purposefully omitted to avoid discrimination, but now I shall make an exception by handing a bouquet to our gracious, efficient, and obliging librarian, Mrs. Wilson. She and her assistants not only render efficient library service, but they are also adept at that fine art of winning friends for the library, and influencing people in its behalf. I am happy to pay them this well-deserved tribute.

As a final word, permit me to leave with you the pertinent sentiment embodied in the following lines:

"Books are keys to wisdom's treasure;
Books are gates to lands of pleasure;
Books are peaks that upward lead;
Books are friends, come let us read."

ENTERPRISE OF AP TAXED IN '51 BY BARRIERS TO TRUTHFUL NEWS

New York, April 12 (AP) — The search for truthful news taxed the ingenuity and enterprise of newspapermen during 1951. Frank J. Starzel, general manager of the Associated Press, said Friday.

"Newsmen were confronted by iron curtains, bamboo curtains, confidential files, restricted information and downright censorship," Starzel said in his annual report.

"At the same time in this difficult situation, the responsibility of the Associated Press to keep the public properly informed also was magnified many times. These news barriers, these active and hidden censorships, came at a time when it was not only difficult to get the news, but when the cost of getting that news was tremendously increased."

World Of Tension

Starzel's report was mailed to members of the Associated Press, cooperative newsgathering organization, in advance of the AP's annual membership meeting here April 21.

During 1951, the AP "operated in a world of extreme tension," Starzel said, adding: "It also was a world in which there was vital need, perhaps beyond any time of the past, for competently reporting news of transcendent happenings for the people of a troubled era."

Starzel said the jailing of William N. Oatis, AP chief of bureau in Prague, Czechoslovakia, on "trumped-up charges" of spying dramatized "the hazards of a western correspondent's activity in iron curtain areas, and the extremes to which Communist leadership carries its ideological warfare." Oatis was sentenced to 10 years in jail.

"The Czech government's imprisoning of Oatis brought home to Associated Press newsmen," Starzel said, "that the dangers of reporting the 'cold war' were as real as reporting the shooting war."

Membership Up

"The Associated Press has made and continues every effort to obtain Oatis' release. It has been joined by the United States government, senators, congressmen, newspapers, scores of organizations and hundreds of private citizens. The State Department has instituted a series of economic and diplomatic measures in retaliation and has been seeking every avenue to pave the way for his release."

"The arrest of Oatis was apparently aimed at driving out any correspondents who attempted to report events behind the iron curtain in Czechoslovakia. In this it succeeded. Late in 1951 there were no western correspondents in Czechoslovakia."

During the year, AP domestic newspaper membership increased by 13 to 1733. Domestic radio membership increased 58 to 1126. In the United States and 72 countries abroad, the AP served 5564 newspapers, radio stations and publications.

TREES PLANTED FOR MEMORIAL

Two memorial trees were planted by the Emmitsburg high school alumni association on the high school lawn Wednesday afternoon in "grateful recognition of meritorious service rendered" by John Calvin Franklin and Clifford Waybright Shriver, deceased past presidents of the alumni association.

Colonel Thomas J. Frailey, president of the Emmitsburg high school alumni association, was in charge of the ceremonies and members of the faculty and the entire student body of the local high school and public school participated. Arvin P. Jones, principal of the school, accepted the trees in behalf of the school.

The program included: Invocation by Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of Elias Evangelical Lutheran church; pledge to the flag, led by Boy Scouts; singing "For The Beauty Of The Earth," by music class; "Salute to Tree," by Harriet Friez; choral reading, "Shade," by fifth and sixth grades; "America" by music class; presentation address by Col. Frailey; planting of the trees; "America The Beautiful," led by Miss Stull; benediction by Rev. Bower. Mrs. Andrew R. Eyster, sister of Clifford W. Shriver, and Miss Margaret V. Franklin, sister of John C. Franklin, were members of the committee in charge and assisted in planting the trees.

rate "detour information specialist." Daily the AAA sends the Gettysburg Motor Club office on Lincoln Square maps showing the location of present and proposed detours throughout the nation. As a result, when tours are made up the detours can be avoided. And AAA members, passing through Gettysburg, stop to inquire about road conditions on their proposed trips.

The Gettysburg Motor club came into existence in August, 1926, when headquarters were opened and 230 members were secured. The late Attorney John D. Keith was the first president, being named to the office August 27, 1926. John W. Ostrom was the first secretary and the office was in the Hotel Gettysburg lobby. When Ostrom resigned in January, 1927, to teach in Japan, Walter Garvin was named as his successor. Miss Spangler succeeded Walter Garvin April 1, 1927.

Promotes Safety

It was a time when the local motor club was doing much to promote safety on the road. Under its sponsorship 510 cars were tested for defective headlights in 1927 and the same year 1,500 cars were tested for general roadability in another program arranged by the club.

John Brehm succeeded John Keith as president in 1927 and continued another year in the office, being succeeded by Elton G. Boyer in 1929. After serving two terms Mr. Boyer was succeeded by C. A. Bixler, who resigned before the completion of his term. Henry M. Scharf was named president in August, 1932, and has continued as president since.

School safety patrols sponsored by the club proved helpful in promoting safety and some of the patrols were highly honored. In 1934 the Lincoln school safety patrol was selected to take part in a parade at Washington, D. C.

During the years the office of the motor club moved about from the hotel lobby, to an office in the hotel annex where the barber shop is now located, then to 18 Chambersburg street and finally to its present location after the Chamber of Commerce vacated the site. It has been located at the Lincoln Square office since 1930.

Fine Road Service

One of the primary services offered by the motor club, and the American Automobile association and the Pennsylvania Motor federation with which it is affiliated, is a road service which provides for free towing, delivering batteries, and similar services for members when their cars break down. Last year the local office had 350 road calls for service. Of that number 177 were visiting motorists who were members of other clubs. Gettysburg members had 49 breakdowns in which they received road service from other clubs throughout the nation. The total cost of the road calls to the club was $920.71.

Projected over the quarter century, last year's road calls would indicate that upwards of 12,000 motorists have been aided by the local club when their cars broke down in the area.

Miss Spangler came to the local office after serving for a year after her graduation from high school as a cashier at the Lincolnway theater.

Babe's Diet Rocks British Bureaucracy

Brighton, Eng., April 12 (AP)—Nine-month-old Robert Friar wasn't growing—so a hospital specialist prescribed a pint of cream a day to bolster his diet.

The prescription reverberated through the government bureaucracy, because the sale of cream is against the law in austere Britain.

The hospital telephoned Brighton's member of Parliament, L. W. B. Teeling. Teeling put the case to Dr. Charles Hill, parliamentary secretary to the health ministry. Hill took it to the food ministry. The food ministry lifted the ban—for Robert only. He had his cream today.

Vigilant: Hose company Tuesday evening, the following candidates for office were nominated: President, Herbert W. Rorer; vice president, J. William Rowe; secretary, Guy E. ## Western Union Says Strike Near "Break"

New York, April 12 (AP)—Western Union says it will be able to "handle" telegraph orders of florists, gift money orders and Easter greeting telegrams" this holiday week-end, despite striking telegraphers.

The telegraph company made the announcement last night as the AFL Commercial Telegraphers union (CTU) disputed the firm's newest claims of restored service on the nationwide wire system.

Western Union said the ten-day-old strike was "waning" and "about to break open." It said service had been restored in 550 cities and towns, which normally originate about 65 per cent of the wire traffic.

But Joseph L. Lahan, a CTU district president, said the company's version was "not so" and that the strike was "still very effective." He said company figures included small town offices operated by non-union "agents, such as barbers, funeral parlors, gas stations and drug stores."

ENTERPRISE OF AP TAXED IN '51 BY BARRIERS TO TRUTHFUL NEWS

New York, April 12 (AP) — The search for truthful news taxed the ingenuity and enterprise of newspapermen during 1951, Frank J. Starzel, general manager of the Associated Press, said Friday.

"Newsmen were confronted by iron curtains, bamboo curtains, confidential files, restricted information and downright censorship," Starzel said in his annual report.

"At the same time in this difficult situation, the responsibility of the Associated Press to keep the public properly informed also was magnified many times. These news barriers, these active and hidden censorships, came at a time when it was not only difficult to get the news, but when the cost of getting that news was tremendously increased."

World Of Tension

Starzel's report was mailed to members of the Associated Press, cooperative newsgathering organization, in advance of the AP's annual membership meeting here April 21.

During 1951, the AP "operated in a world of extreme tension," Starzel said, adding: "It also was a world in which there was vital need, perhaps beyond any time of the past, for completely reporting news of transcendent happenings for the people of a troubled area."

Starzel said the jailing of William N. Oatis, AP chief of bureau in Prague, Czechoslovakia, on "trumped-up charges" of spying dramatized "the hazards of a western correspondent's activity in iron curtain areas, and the extremes to which Communist leadership carries its ideological warfare." Oatis was sentenced to 10 years in jail.

"The Czech government's imprisonment of Oatis brought home to Associated Press newsmen," Starzel said, "that the dangers of reporting the 'cold war' were as real as reporting the shooting war."

Membership Up

"The Associated Press has made and continues every effort to obtain Oatis' release. It has been joined by the United States government, senators, congressmen, newspapers, scores of organizations and hundreds of private citizens. The State Department has instituted a series of economic and diplomatic measures in retaliation and has been seeking every avenue to pave the way for his release."

"The arrest of Oatis was apparently aimed at driving out any correspondents who attempted to report events behind the iron curtain in Czechoslovakia. In this it succeeded. Late in 1951 there were no western correspondents in Czechoslovakia."

During the year, AP domestic newspaper membership increased by 13 to 1733. Domestic radio membership increased 58 to 1126. In the United States and 72 countries abroad, the AP served 5564 newspapers, radio stations and publications.

Emmitsburg TREES PLANTED FOR MEMORIAL

Two memorial trees were planted by the Emmitsburg high school alumni association on the high school lawn Wednesday afternoon in "grateful recognition of meritorious service rendered" by John Calvin Franklin and Clifford Waybright Shriver, deceased past presidents of the alumni association.

Colonel Thomas J. Frailey, president of the Emmitsburg high school alumni association, was in charge of the ceremonies and members of the faculty and the entire student body of the local high school and public school participated. Arvin P. Jones, principal of the school, accepted the trees in behalf of the school.

The program included: Invocation by Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of Elias Evangelical Lutheran church; pledge to the flag, led by Boy Scouts; singing "For The Beauty Of The Earth," by music class; "Salute to Tree," by Harriet Fite; choral reading, "Shade," by fifth and sixth grades; "America," by music class; presentation address by Col. Frailey; planting of the trees; "America the Beautiful," led by Miss Stull; benediction by Rev. Bower. Mrs. Andrew R. Eyster, sister of Clifford W. Shriver, and Miss Margaret V. Franklin, sister of John C. Franklin, were members of the committee in charge and assisted in planting the trees.

rate "detour information specialist." Daily the AAA sends the Gettysburg Motor Club office on Lincoln Square maps showing the location of present and proposed detours throughout the nation. As a result, when tours are made up the detours can be avoided. And AAA members, passing through Gettysburg, stop to inquire about road conditions on their proposed trips.

The Gettysburg Motor club came into existence in August, 1926, when headquarters were opened and 250 members were secured. The late Attorney John D. Keith was the first president, being named to the office August 27, 1926. John W. Ostrom was the first secretary and the office was in the Hotel Gettysburg lobby. When Ostrom resigned in January, 1927, to teach in Japan, Walter Garvin was named as his successor. Miss Spangler succeeded Walter Garvin April 1, 1927.

Promotes Safety

It was a time when the local motor club was doing much to promote safety on the road. Under its sponsorship 510 cars were tested for defective headlights in 1927 and the same year 1,500 cars were tested for general roadability in another program arranged by the club.

John Brehm succeeded John Keith as president in 1927 and continued another year in the office, being succeeded by Elton G. Boyer in 1929. After serving two terms Mr. Boyer was succeeded by C. A. Bixler, who resigned before the completion of his term. Henry M. Scharf was named president in August, 1932, and has continued as president since.

School safety patrols sponsored by the club proved helpful in promoting safety and some of the patrols were highly honored. In 1934 the Lincoln school safety patrol was selected to take part in a parade at Washington, D. C.

During the years the office of the motor club moved about from the hotel lobby, to an office in the hotel annex where the barber shop is now located, then to 18 Chambersburg street and finally to its present location after the Chamber of Commerce vacated the site. It has been located at the Lincoln Square office since 1930.

Fine Road Service

One of the primary services offered by the motor club, and the American Automobile association and the Pennsylvania Motor federation with which it is affiliated, is a road service which provides for free towing, delivering batteries, and similar services for members when their cars break down. Last year the local office had 350 road calls for service. Of that number 177 were visiting motorists who were members of other clubs. Gettysburg members had 49 breakdowns in which they received road service from other clubs throughout the nation. The total cost of the road calls to the club was $920.71.

Projected over the quarter century, last year's road calls would indicate that upwards of 12,000 motorists have been aided by the local club when their cars broke down in the area.

Miss Spangler came to the local office after serving for a year after her graduation from high school as a cashier at the Lincolnway theater.

Babe's Diet Rocks British Bureaucracy

Brighton, Eng., April 12 (AP)—Nine-month-old Robert Prior wasn't growing—so a hospital specialist prescribed a pint of cream a day to bolster his diet.

The prescription reverberated through the government bureaucracy, because the sale of cream is against the law in austere Britain.

The hospital telephoned Brighton's member of Parliament, L. W. B. Teeling. Teeling put the case to Dr. Charles Hill, parliamentary secretary to the health ministry. Hill took it to the food ministry. The food ministry lifted the ban—for Robert only. He had his cream today.

A capacity congregation attended the presentation of the sacred cantata by Sir John Stainer, "The Crucifixion," by the choir of Redeemer's Reformed church on Good Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Shirley Gobrecht, church organist and choir director, presided at the console throughout the presentation.

The Rev. J. Alfred Fryer from Memorial Reformed church, York, was the guest conductor. The Rev. Mr. Fryer was graduated from the Susquehanna university with a major in music prior to entering the ministry; he was music supervisor of the Danville school district. The choir of Memorial church has presented a series of five classical cantatas under his direction.

The soloists were Stewart N. Long, tenor; Ferree LeFevre, baritone, and Harold O. Senz, bass. The choir was composed of twenty six members of the church, and the pastor, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, assisted by seven members of the choir from Memorial church.

The service opened with an organ prelude played by Miss Gobrecht; the procession, "When I Survey The Wondrous Cross," and the invocation by the Rev. Mr. Reynolds. The cantata consisted of solos, duets and selections by the entire choir. The story of "The Crucifixion" was divided into the following parts: "The Agony," "Processional To Calvary," "The Mystery Of The Divine Humiliation," "The Majesty Of The Divine Humiliation," "The Mystery Of Intercession," "The Adoration Of The Crucified," "The Appeal Of The Crucified," "For The Love Of Jesus" and a number of recitatives. The offertory prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Reynolds and he also pronounced the benediction. The service concluded with the recessional hymn, "Beneath The Cross Of Jesus" and the organ postlude.

Home From West Coast
Mr. and Mrs. Preston L. Myers and daughters, Ruby and Patricia, M street, returned home on Thursday night from a week's motor trip to the west coast covering a distance of approximately 7,800 miles. They spent some time with the former's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hall, in Oakland, Calif., and visited with Mr. and Mrs. William W. Thomas and daughter, Judy, former residents of the community, in Long Beach, Calif. While in California they went on guided tours of San Francisco, Hollywood and San Diego. Enroute home they did extensive sightseeing through many of the southern states including a visit to New Orleans. The Myerses were accompanied to Littlestown by Mr. and Mrs. Hall, who have resided in California since their marriage last spring. Mr. Hall was recently discharged from the navy and they are residing temporarily with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Hall, North Queen street.

Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Littlestown Joint School system, was the speaker at the Lenten devotions for the local public school students on Wednesday morning in Redeemer's Reformed church. The service included group singing with Perree LeFevre as organist; scripture reading by Brenda Hess; prayer offered by the Dolores Rae Reinhold; vocal solo, Mrs. Joan Witt, music supervisor of the Littlestown public schools, and benediction by Miss Reinhold.

This was the last service in the series conducted each Wednesday throughout Lent in Redeemer's church under the sponsorship of the Third District Youth Council. A different speaker was secured for each of the devotions which were all well attended.</

BIG AUDIENCE FOR CANTATA

A capacity congregation attended the presentation of the sacred cantata by Elr John Stainer, "The Crucifixion," by the choir of Redeemer's Reformed church on Good Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Shirley Gobrecht, church organist and choir director, presided at the console throughout the presentation.

The Rev. J. Alfred Fryer from Memorial Reformed church, York, was the guest conductor. The Rev. Mr. Fryer was graduated from the Susquehanna university with a major in music. Prior to entering the ministry, he was music supervisor of the Danville school district. The choir of Memorial church has presented a series of five classical cantatas under his direction.

The soloists were Stewart N. Long, tenor; Ferree LeFevre, baritone, and Harold O. Senz, bass. The choir was composed of twenty six members of the church, and the pastor, the Rev.

Hold No Hope For 39 Lost In Caribbean After Airliner Falls Into Sea; 17 Survivors

San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 12 (AP)—The Coast Guard said today there is "practically no hope" of finding alive any of 39 persons missing in the Caribbean's shark-filled Milwaukee Deep after the crash of a Pan-American airliner full of New York-bound Easter vacationists.

That put the toll of dead or presumed dead at 52. Thirteen bodies were picked up from the waters, three miles outside San Juan harbor, shortly after the plane broke in two and sank shortly before noon yesterday.

But a near-miracle saved 17 of the 69 aboard on the Good Friday flight. One of them was the pilot, Capt. John C. Burn, husband of singer Jane Froman.

Most Were Puerto Ricans
A similar crash, when Burn saved Miss Froman after landing in the Tague river near Lisbon, Portugal, nine years ago, fostered their romance and marriage.

Burn's flight would have brought him home for a wedding anniversary celebration today with Miss Froman, whose singing career and flying romance is the subject of a

current movie, "With A Song In My Heart."

Instead, Burn again was in a hospital and Miss Froman—weeping, nervous and shocked—flew to an anniversary by his bedside.

Most of the dead and missing were Puerto Ricans. Seven of the 64 passengers and all five of the crew came from the United States—New York, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, and Ohio.

Family Wiped Out

One whole family of Puerto Ricans was wiped out. The father, Pedro Brignoni, 45, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had flown to San Juan to bring back his wife and six children after a two-year separation.

One baby was saved—but became an orphan. He is Mark Van Daalen. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Van Daalen of St. Paul, Minn., both are missing. Missing also are Mr. and Mrs. Juan Jerefsky of Dayton, Ohio.

All the crew survived. Besides Burn they are first officer, William Thomas Hutchins, 30, of Peckville, Pa.; third officer, Jack R. Laubach, 34, of Bloomsburg, Pa.; purser, Alfred Perez, 33, and steward Rene

Torres, both of New York city. The survivors included Mrs. Novetah Davenport of Hastings-On-Hudson, N. Y., a leader of the national Girl Scout movement in New York.

Engine Failed

Ten other survivors were identified as Augustine Rosado, Salvador Ayala, Emiliana Cruz, Enrique Garcia, Juan Nieves, Alande Pereira, Gloria Rosario, Victoriana Riera, Nelda Rivera, and Robledo Zola.

Pereira, who listed a New York address, said he noticed a motor was giving trouble, then felt the plane hit the water.

"I heard cries, lots of cries," he said. "I searched for a young lad, Juan Cruz Nieves, who was accompanying me, and saw him being carried out by an American. I heard Captain Burn ordering the passengers to put on lifebelts and get out of the plane," he said. "Then I was swimming."

Burn had sent a message saying he was trying to return to the airport after one of the plane's four engines conked out.

Gone In Five Minutes

Firewitnesses at historic Old Morro Castle, overlooking the harbor, saw the plane swing around and slide toward the choppy sea in a futile effort to reach safety.

Two employees of the Puerto Rican transportation authority, Antonio Perez and Victor Ortiz, reported the plane skimmed the water, hit a big wave, broke in two and sank within two minutes.

It was gone five minutes after Burn sent his message about the engine failure.

Coast Guard Capt. C. A. Anderson, in charge of all Coast Guard activities in the Antilles, said the place where it fell—only three miles outside San Juan harbor—is a sea hole called the Milwaukee Deep, where the ocean bottom is half a mile below the surface.

Tell Heroic Story

All through the day and night, boats patrolled the area. Planes gave up at dark but went out again at first light, looking for more survivors.

Anderson said searchers reported seeing sharks swimming among fragments of clothing and other debris that floated to the surface.

The Coast Guard told a heroic story about Lt. Cmdr. J. Narving of New London, Conn., who fought off sharks to swim out and bring in one of the survivors.

Narving, co-pilot of a PBY patrol plane, jumped overboard after the seaplane set down at the site of the crash. "During half an hour in the water, he warded off two sharks," the coast guard said in a brief account. Another plane picked up Narving and the man he rescued.

Seven Coeds

enrolled with the same procedure as men and, upon completion of the courses, commissioned into the WAF.

Give Their Reasons
Sophomore girls enrolled in the AROTC at the present time are Joan Burwell, Louise Walsh, Lois Tabor, Patricia Weikel and Peg Engel. Linda Daikeler and Eve Winant are members of the freshman class.

Courses in geopolitics, including the history and geography of various countries, are proving a big help, the girls say. Joan Burwell claims what she has learned of modern air warfare "is helping me to understand better the Korean war."

Eve Winant claims the course is "an excellent help in understanding the world problems of yesterday and today."

Irish Louise Walsh has a more direct answer to the benefits to be obtained from Air ROTC study: "I want to fly a plane," she says. "This helps."

Resurrection Of Christ Will Be Memorialized By Millions

(By The Associated Press)
Songs will echo across the mountainsides and fill the churches tomorrow in memory of the resurrection of Christ.

Thousands of Americans will gather at sunrise services at parks, shrines and outdoor amphitheaters across the country. Churches, small and large, planned special Easter devotionals.

The annual Easter parades, on Fifth avenue in New York, on Connecticut avenue in Washington, and on fashionable streets in other cities will draw their usual crowds, and the kiddies will hunt colored eggs. But it is the pageants, and passion plays, and massed choruses, in outdoor arenas from Maine to California, that will combine with churches in setting the religious tone.

Services At 1 A.M.

At a natural amphitheater, in the age-worn Wichita mountains near Lawton, Okla., 75,000 are expected for the 27th annual Easter pageant, which starts at 1 a.m. A cast of 2,000 performs until sunrise.

Atop San Francisco's 938-foot Mt. Davidson, under a huge cross, services begin at 5:30. As many as 50,000 have attended in the past.

In Indianapolis, about 25,000 are expected for the 30th annual sunrise service at Indianapolis Monument circle. There also will be an "Easter Triumph" play at Indiana State Fairgrounds coliseum.

Near Ringe, N. H., colorful services begin at 4:45 a.m. at the Cathedral of the Pines, a non-sectarian outdoor shrine dedicated to U. S. dead of all wars.

Hilltop Services

Some 500 Protestant youths have arranged hilltop services at Arlington, Mass. The annual service on Cadillac mountain, near Bar Harbor, Me., has been moved to the lowlands at nearby Seal Harbor this year, because of snow on the mountain.

Two choruses of 550 singers, and 250-white-robed children, ranked in the shape of a cross, will participate in sunrise services at Los Angeles' lily-bedecked Hollywood Bowl. About 20,000 are expected.

Another probable 10,000 will flock to the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, where a choir of 500 will furnish music, and 10,000 more are expected at Mount Rubidoux, Riverside, Calif., site of the original sunrise Easter service.

Numerous early-hour services are planned in New York—at the 7,000-capacity Radio City Music Hall, and at Central Park, and Brooklyn's Prospect Park.

Services In Arlington

Washington, D. C., will stage its major dawn service at the huge amphitheater adjoining the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington cemetery.

In New Mexico, amid blending Spanish and Indian cultures, Catholic missions will hold masses in little pueblo villages, followed by the beating of tom-toms in Indian rituals of spring in the churchyards. Yaqui Indians in Arizona plan to re-enact their version of Christ's passion and crucifixion.

In Colorado, sunrise services are planned at the Garden of the Gods, near Colorado Springs, at the Park of Red Rocks, near Denver, and under a huge log cross on Ajax Mountain at the Aspen ski resort. Some 400 horsemen will take part in mid-morning services at Lakewood, a Denver suburb.

At Yosemite National Park's Mirror Lake, the National Broadcasting company will carry annual evening services. It also will broadcast in the morning the services from the "Shrine of the Ages" on the rim of the Grand Canyon, where Gov. Howard Pyle, of Arizona, will give a five-minute talk.

SOLDIER KILLED

Indiantown Gap, Pa., April 12 (AP)—An automobile collided with a truck near this military reservation last night, killing a 22-year-old soldier. The victim was Pvt. Richard A. Piske who was stationed at the reservation. Dr. E. Emreich, deputy Lebanon county coroner, said Piske apparently drove out of an intersection on Route 422 near here into the path of an oncoming truck. The truck driver was uninjured.

2 STATE MEN IN PLANE CRASH

San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 12 (AP)—Two Pennsylvanians were among the five crew members on the Pan American plane which crashed and sank in the ocean off San Juan.

A total of 46 were feared killed in the crash of the big airliner yesterday, while from 18 to 23 were reported saved.

The Pennsylvanians were listed as William T. Hutchins, 30, first officer on the plane, whose home is at Peckville, Pa., near Scranton, and third officer Jack R. Laubach, of Bloomsburg, Pa.

Laubach's wife said she received a telephone call from the Pan American headquarters in New York several hours after she first learned of the crash, informing her that her husband was all right.

Shocked and Bruised

Mrs. Laubach said she was told her husband sustained only shock and bruises and that he did not require hospitalization. Laubach was a B-24 pilot in Europe during World War Two. He later managed a small airfield near Bloomsburg, learning to fly at the Bloomsburg airport. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Laubach of Berwick, Pa.

Laubach and his wife have a son and a daughter.

Hutchins is married and the father of three children. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hutchins of Peckville, he flew a private plane prior to World War Two during which he served with the army's ferry command, flying cargo planes over the hump to China. His father is a coal operator.

Countians Having Dogs Vaccinated

Adams county residents who have their dogs vaccinated against rabies are asked to send the portion of the "Rabies Vaccine Modified Virus Avianized" form designed for local government files to "Miscellaneous Diseases Division, Attention: Hubley Schall, assistant chief, Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg," the county treasurer said today.

A number of countians are apparently having their dogs vaccinated to protect them in case the outbreak of rabies in various portions of the state spreads to the county. Treasurer Carl S. Menchey said. So far four countians have sent the forms to the county treasurer's office. Menchey said the forms should go to the state office rather than to his office.

Hold No Hope For 39 Lost In Caribbean After Airliner Falls Into Sea; 17 Survivors

San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 12 (AP)—The Coast Guard said today there is "practically no hope" of finding alive any of 39 persons missing in the Caribbean's shark-infested Milwaukee Deep after the crash of a Pan-American airliner full of New York-bound Easter vacationists.

That put the toll of dead or presumed dead at 52. Thirteen bodies were picked up from the waters, three miles outside San Juan harbor, shortly after the plane broke in two and sank shortly before noon yesterday.

But a near-miracle saved 17 of the 69 aboard on the Good Friday flight. One of them was the pilot, Capt. John C. Burn, husband of singer Jane Froman.

A similar crash, when Burn saved Miss Froman after landing in the Tague river near Lisbon, Portugal, nine years ago, fostered their romance and marriage.

Burn's flight would have brought him home for a wedding anniversary celebration today with Miss Froman, whose singing career and flying romance is the subject of a

current movie, "With A Song In My Heart."

Instead, Burn again was in a hospital and Miss Froman—weeping, nervous and shocked—flew to an anniversary by his bedside.

Most of the dead and missing were Puerto Ricans. Seven of the 64 passengers and all five of the crew came from the United States—New York, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, and Ohio.

Family Wiped Out
One whole family of Puerto Ricans was wiped out. The father, Pedro Brignoni, 45, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had flown to San Juan to bring back his wife and six children after a two-year separation.

One baby was saved—but became an orphan. He is Mark Van Daalen. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Van Daalen of St. Paul, Minn., both are missing. Missing also are Mr. and Mrs. Juan Jenesky of Dayton, Ohio.

All the crew survived. Besides Burn they are first officer, William Thomas Hutchins, 30, of Peckville, Pa.; third officer, Jack R. Laubach, 34, of Bloomsburg, Pa.; purser Alfred Perez, 33, and steward Rene

Torres, both of New York city. The survivors included Mrs. Novetah Davenport of Hastings-On-Hudson, N. Y., a leader of the national Girl Scout movement in New York.

Engine Failed
Ten other survivors were identified as Augustine Rosado, Salvador Ayala, Emilene Cruz, Enrique Garcia, Juan Nieves, Alanide Pereira, Gloria Rosario, Victoriana Riera, Nelda Rivera, and Robledo Zolla.

Pereira, who listed a New York address, said he noticed a motor was giving trouble, then felt the plane hit the water.

"I heard cries, lots of cries," he said. "I searched for a young lad, Juan Cruz Nieves, who was accompanying me, and saw him being carried out by an American. I heard Captain Burn ordering the passengers to put on lifebelts and get out of the plane," he said. "Then I was swimming."

Burn had sent a message saying he was trying to return to the airport after one of the plane's four engines conked out.

Gone In Five Minutes
Eyewitnesses at historic Old Morro Castle, overlooking the harbor, saw the plane swing around and slide toward the choppy sea in a futile effort to reach safety.

Two employees of the Puerto Rico transportation authority, Antonio Perez and Victor Ortiz, reported the plane skinned the water, hit a big wave, broke in two and sank within two minutes.

It was gone five minutes after Burn sent his message about the engine failure.

Coast Guard Capt. C. A. Anderson, in charge of all Coast Guard activities in the Antilles, said the place where it fell—only three miles outside San Juan harbor—is a sea hole called the Milwaukee Deep, where the ocean bottom is half a mile below the surface.

Tell Heroic Story
All through the day and night, boats patrolled the area. Planes gave up at dark but went out again at first light, looking for more survivors.

Anderson said searchers reported seeing sharks swimming among fragments of clothing and other debris that floated to the surface.

The Coast Guard told a heroic story about Lt. Cmdr. J. Natwing of New London, Conn., who fought off sharks to swim out and bring in one of the survivors.

Natwing, co-pilot of a PBV patrol plane, jumped overboard after the seaplane set down at the site of the crash. "During half an hour in the water, he warded off two sharks," the coast guard said in a brief account. Another plane picked up Natwing and the man he rescued.

enrolled with the same procedure as men and, upon completion of the courses, commissioned into the WAF.

Give Their Reasons
Sophomore girls enrolled in the AROTC at the present time are Joan Burwell, Louise Walsh, Lois Taber, Patricia Weikel and Peg Engel. Linda Daikeler and Eve Winant are members of the freshman class.

Courses in geopolitics, including the history and geography of various countries, are proving a big help, the girls say. Joan Burwell claims what she has learned of modern air warfare "is helping me to understand better the Korean war."

Eve Winant claims the course is "an excellent help in understanding the world problems of yesterday and today."

Irish Louise Walsh has a more direct answer to the benefits to be obtained from Air ROTC study: "I want to fly a plane," she says. "This helps."

Resurrection Of Christ Will Be Memorialized By Millions

(By The Associated Press)
Songs will echo across the mountainsides and fill the churches tomorrow in memory of the resurrection of Christ.

Thousands of Americans will gather at sunrise services at parks, shrines and outdoor amphitheaters across the country. Churches, small and large, planned special Easter devotionals.

The annual Easter parades, on Fifth avenue in New York, on Connecticut avenue in Washington, and on fashionable streets in other cities will draw their usual crowds, and the kiddies will hunt colored eggs.

But it is the pageants, and passion plays, and massed choruses, in outdoor arenas from Maine to California, that will combine with churches in setting the religious tone.

Services At 1 A.M.
At a natural amphitheater, in the age-worn Wichita mountains near Lawton, Okla., 75,000 are expected for the 27th annual Easter pageant, which starts at 1 a.m. A cast of 2,000 performs until sunrise.

Atop San Francisco's 938-foot Mt. Davidson, under a huge cross, services begin at 5:30. As many as 50,000 have attended in the past.

In Indianapolis, about 25,000 are expected for the 30th annual sunrise service at Indianapolis Monument circle. There also will be an "Easter Triumph" play at Indiana State Fairgrounds coliseum.

Near Ringe, N. H., colorful services begin at 4:45 a.m. at the Cathedral of the Pines, a non-sectarian outdoor shrine dedicated to U. S. dead of all wars.

Hilltop Services
Some 500 Protestant youths have arranged hilltop services at Arlington, Mass. The annual service on Cadillac mountain, near Bar Harbor, Me., has been moved to the lowlands at nearby Seal Harbor this year, because of snow on the mountain.

Two choruses of 550 singers, and 250-white-robed children, ranked in the shape of a cross, will participate in sunrise services at Los Angeles' lily-bedecked Hollywood Bowl. About 20,000 are expected.

Another probable 10,000 will flock to the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, where a choir of 500 will furnish music, and 10,000 more are expected at Mount Rubidoux, Riverside, Calif., site of the original sunrise Easter service.

Numerous early-hour services are planned in New York—at the 7,000-capacity Radio City Music Hall, and at Central Park, and Brooklyn's Prospect Park.

Services In Arlington
Washington, D. C., will stage its major dawn service at the huge amphitheater adjoining the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington cemetery.

In New Mexico, amid blending Spanish and Indian cultures, Catholic missions will hold masses in little pueblo villages, followed by the beating of tom-toms in Indian rituals of spring in the churchyards. Yaqui Indians in Arizona plan to re-enact their version of Christ's passion and crucifixion.

In Colorado, sunrise services are planned at the Garden of the Gods, near Colorado Springs, at the Park of Red Rocks, near Denver, and under a huge log cross on Ajax mountain at the Aspen ski resort. Some 400 horsemen will take part in mid-morning services at Lakewood, a Denver suburb.

At Yosemite National Park's Mirror Lake, the National Broadcasting company will carry annual evening services. It also will broadcast in the morning the services from the "Shrine of the Ages" on the rim of the Grand Canyon, where Gov. Howard Pyle, of Arizona, will give a five-minute talk.

2 STATE MEN IN PLANE CRASH

San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 12 (AP)—Two Pennsylvanians were among the five crew members on the Pan American plane which crashed and sank in the ocean off San Juan.

A total of 46 were feared killed in the crash of the big airliner yesterday, while from 18 to 23 were reported saved.

The Pennsylvanians were listed as William T. Hutchins, 30, first officer on the plane, whose home is at Peckville, Pa., near Scranton, and third officer Jack R. Laubach, of Bloomsburg, Pa.

Laubach's wife said she received a telephone call from the Pan American headquarters in New York several hours after she first learned of the crash, informing her that her husband was all right.

Shocked and Bruised
Mrs. Laubach said she was told her husband sustained only shock and bruises and that he did not require hospitalization. Laubach was a B-24 pilot in Europe during World War Two. He later managed a small airfield near Bloomsburg, learning to fly at the Bloomsburg airport.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orville Laubach of Berwick, Pa. Laubach and his wife have a son and a daughter.

Hutchins is married and the father of three children. The son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hutchins of Peckville, he flew a private plane prior to World War Two during which he served with the army's ferry command, flying cargo planes over the hump to China. His father is a coal operator.

Countians Having Dogs Vaccinated

Adams county residents who have their dogs vaccinated against rabies are asked to send the portion of the "Rabies Vaccine Modified Virus Avianized" form designed for local government files to "Miscellaneous Diseases Division, Attention: Hubley Schall, assistant chief, Bureau of Animal Industry, Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg," the county treasurer said today.

A number of countians are apparently having their dogs vaccinated to protect them in case the outbreak of rabies in various portions of the state spreads to the county. Treasurer Carl S. Menchey said. So far four countians have sent the forms to the county treasurer's office. Menchey said the forms should go to the state office rather than to his office.

NEW IDEA No. 40 Semi-Mounted Mower. Smooth, quiet twin V-belt drive. Retractable rollers for easy hand moving.

Another reason why a NEW IDEA is a good idea

NEW IDEA No. 30A Trailer Mower cuts clean on square tires. Tracks perfectly, maneuvers easily. Fits any tractor.

There comes a day when your hay is just right to cut. For a very short time it stands at the peak of its nutritional value. NEW IDEA Mowers are designed to allow you to get that hay down fast and clean, while it is still at its best.

You can hitch up a NEW IDEA Mower in minutes. The sturdy frame and built-to-last moving parts allow you to mow even the thickest hay—confident that you'll get down the full day's quota without costly delay.

You'll be as proud to own a famous NEW IDEA Mower as we are to sell it. Come in soon and give these mowers the inch-by-inch examination they deserve.

Both mowers adaptable for hydraulic lift
